— AI AGENTS & SPECS

Your agent is not bad.

Your brief is.

Agents fail where our specs were always vague.

— 01 — THE PROBLEM

It did exactly what you said.

A Your brief: “Summarize client feedback.”

B It guessed the rest and kept going.

— 02 — WHY IT IS NOT NEW

Vague specs always failed. Now, faster.

Unclear spec, a person	ASKS
Unclear spec, an agent	GUESSES

— 03 — MY VIEW

A good brief is a good product spec.

It has five parts. Skip one, and the agent fills the gap.

— 04 — PARTS 1 AND 2

First, the goal and the context.

GOAL	What you want, and why.
CONTEXT	What the agent can’t know alone.

— 05 — PARTS 3 AND 4

Then set limits and define done.

LIMITS What it must never do.

DONE How you both know it’s finished.

— 06 — PART 5

Last, show what good looks like.

Link a good past result.
It shows your standard.

— 07 — MY EXAMPLE

Same task. Two briefs.

VAGUE “Summarize client feedback.”

SPEC Top 3 help reasons, 2 tickets each.

— 08 — BEFORE YOU HAND OFF

Write it like a one-page spec.

01 Write the done line first.

02 No done line, no hand-off.
